Policy:

Support may be requested (pending availability of funds) for full-time graduate students to present a research paper at one regional/national conference per year, based on the following guidelines:

- Up to $300 for a paper accepted and presented by graduate student (one per paper and/or per student)
- Up to $100 for first year Master's or Doctoral student to attend/participate in a regional/national meeting
- Funding may be used to reimburse students for approved expenses up to the limits outlined above. Financial support is intended to increase visibility for the student and the OSU graduate program. Therefore, students are expected to attend and participate in the conference to the fullest extent as possible.

*Note: Please attach documentation that the paper has been accepted for presentation at the conference.
