Scholarship funds are available for current or former teachers who are pursuing a Ph.D. degree in Agricultural and Extension Education. These funds may be used for tuition, professional and/or research related travel, costs associated with data collection and analysis, or other graduate program expenses relating to a doctoral program in Agricultural Education.

Applications and guidelines are available on the HCRD website. Completed applications are to be submitted to Dr. Robert Birkenholz, Chair, Graduate Studies Committee by October 1, 2011, in Room 208 Agricultural Administration Building. Applicants may also be interviewed by a selection committee. Recipients will be notified by Dr. Ken Martin, Interim Chair, Department of Human and Community Resource Development, who will administer the funds.

The total amount to be awarded will be determined annually and may be distributed across several recipients. Describe your budget in detail and how funds will be used on your application. A final report is required.
