

Orissa University

Visioning for the Future: Reinventing and Transforming Orissa

M. Susie Whittington
Robert Birkenholz
The Ohio State University
August, 2008

Welcome!

“Intelligence emerges as a system connects to itself in new and diverse ways”

– Meg Wheatley

Goals

- Provide students with a challenging curriculum taught by outstanding faculty in a supportive and personalized environment
- Ensure the highest quality academic standards and expectations of students

Procedures

- Conversation Etiquette
 - » Focus on the future of teaching at Orissa
 - » Table Host, Recorder
 - » Encourage diverse opinions/ideas
 - » Look for connections/threads
 - » SHARE TALKING TIME
 - » Listen for understanding
 - » Contribute your thinking
 - » Cell phones = low stun

Change Activity

1. What new and different possibilities exist for teaching enhancement at Orissa?
2. How can Orissa be the best in India at addressing teaching?
3. What might Department Chairs do, Deans do, Professors, do and Students do to address changes in teaching?
4. How can the teaching culture be changed at Orissa?
5. What emerging trends are taking place in our society that drive the need for change in our teaching?

Wrap-up and Next Steps

Data collected today Conversations and changes will be ongoing.

Thank you!

“The best way to predict the future is to create it”
-Peter Drucker